I need to know where you been to know where we're going but you're not letting me in you're too scared to let that wall just tumble down again I know you been hurt
Who are you fooling I think I'm breaking the curse the closer I get to you the more you let me learn

I will break you down tonight
Both my eyes are open wide

You don't have hide it
it's a beautiful scar
so don't leave me in the dark you don't have to fight it
it's a beautiful scar
Now I know just who who are

I know it's harder to trust when that trust is broken you haven't given so much cause everything that you gave was never quite enough You're always taking a chance with what you're exposing but if you want it to last you can't be afraid to say where it all began

I will break you down tonight
Both my eyes are open wide

Now I know just who who are

Don't be afraid of who you really are

Will you show me will you bare it all
will you show me
I'll be there to break the fall

Don't you keep it all inside that part of you has never died I know you numbed it all away that pain was way too much to take But now I'm here the dam broke loose the tears will fall and you'll find you you're not alone we'll make it through we've crossed that bridge to something new
