Friends don't let friends destroy themselves
Because your pain becomes my pain
We can't fall like the devil
Got to wack him with a shovel
The struggles have their end can't let your mind bend
You're one of my brothers don't want find no others
Even if you think that I'm trying to smother
All I got is love descending like a dove
In my heart I got no shame and you know I'll never judge
All struggles have an end we cannot see
A spot light on your soul and struggles are set free
You tell me it is better to go on without you leaving you behind
I am forbidden to do with my strength
I will carry your body so torn you can't die yet
I am not ready to mourn
The dark will arise please don't hear the lies
I'm here next to you look me in the eyes
