Curtains open up to see spotlight shines on you and me tonight
Pretending for the crowd below, we put on a damn good show, but it's a lie We can't help but cause a fight, it's the same old drama every night
I walk off stage cause this old play is more than I can take

No. I don't want it to be over, but we need a break before you break my heart And oh, we can't live this scene forever
Right now you and me are better, better off apart
But I'll still love you when the lights come up
