Look beyond the reason for living,
See the world spinning around you
Even though you know that they're lying,
There is nothing you can do about it.
'Cause you can't change anything that's already done,
When the damage's done you know
It's out of your hands.
Do you know how many lives that've been taken away?
I'll guess we'll never know
Who's right or who's being wrong.

Listen to the voice above your head
(A promise broken, lies are spoken)
No one will ever face the fact that
They're lying you blind

All the dreams I had has faded away,
How many times have you lied
To those who really believe in you?

Listen to the voice above your head
(A promise broken, lies are spoken)
No one will ever face the fact that
They're lying you blind
All the dreams I had, have faded away
