They fought for what they believed was right
If only they knew what was going on
A criminal mind with a loose end
No one dared to defy him, no one would ever leave him
Only the fools believed in him
A criminal mind with a loose end
He sentenced them all to die for him
The memories of him will never disappear
A criminal mind with a loose end
Why can't they give, the love they need so bad

(Your) kingdom will fall not to rise again
Pray for those you believe

Are you aware of what he's done
How can you live the way you do
Don't ever let it happen again
Why can't they give, the love they need so bad

Your kingdom will fall not to rise again
Pray for those you believe
