I have seen something strange today
Something that I know can twist my mind and soul
I know that some of you don't believe in this
I can only speak for myself what I seen

There's so many questions
Maybe we should let it be

High above the clouds I've seen spirits flying across
the sky
High above the clouds I've seen angels crying crying
for us

For not so long ago a wise man spoke to me
He said that visions aren't always what they seem to be The more you'll seek the more you'll find of this mystery
See if your mind really can take it

There's so many questions
Maybe we should let it be

the sky
for us

I can see them now, coming for me
