As he gazed into his crystal ball
He found the key to open every door
Within his visions that he saw
Became know to us all
He could see the signs
Predict the world beyond our time
He tried with all his might
To make amends, now it's too late
To make that change, to rearrange
Among the things he saw was war and misery
Greed and disbelief followed desperately

The future holds secrets unknown to us all
Tomorrow will lead us on
The future holds secrets unknown to us all
Tomorrow will show us the damage done

The writing's on the wall
Will we reject it like before?
Tho' we have been warned
We still remain to stay the same
Among the things he say was...

The future holds secrets unknown to us all

Don't believe in eternity, it might become your destiny
Don't believe in mysteries nothin' is forever
