I see no reason for this madness,
We are destroying our own world
Why can't we see what we are doing,
Are we too blind to see the truth

They have the world in their hands,
God knows what they can do
This can be too much power for a man
This world that we all live in, is not what it used to be
When will this madness cease to be

What can we do to stop this, there must be a way,
Before we have erased ourselves

Calling, I'm calling for you
Soon there will be nothing
More of this world we are all living in

Fly away to the promised land
Where the angels sing their songs
Fly away to the place where we can feel free,
Where tomorrow will remain
When I see all this madness,
It makes me cry inside,
This world is coming to it's end!

Who will remain when it's done?
Pray that we will not give in
Soon there will be nothing more of this world
We are all living in

Fly away to the promised land
Where the angels sing their songs
Fly away to the place where we can
Feel free, where tomorrow will remain

We're trying to hide our feelings,
Scared of the world today
The child of tomorrow will never see
The world we are living in.

Fly away to the promised land

Where the angels sing their songs
Fly away to the place where we can
Feel free, where tomorrow will remain
