Let's take a train down to the lake
It's such a gorgeous day out
We'd be crazy if we stayed indoors
Just because we're poor,
It doesn't mean we have to keep on being bored.
To all my friends, I hope that every word I wrote
Finds you well, you know, I loved you all along.

We'll spike our soda cans with booze
The weather on the news says we should expect the sun
To make it's long-awaited return on the big blue screen
Now, this I gotta see for myself.

To all my friends, I hope that every word I wrote
Finds you well, you know, I loved you all along.
To all my enemies, unwelcome memories,
I hope these words connect like a swift kick to the head.

Let's find a spot to stop and set up shop
And appreciate the girls on rollerskates
We'll hide our true intentions, and our drunk dispositions
Behind our calm demeanors and some fucking dark sunglasses
Let's blow our entire afternoon and just enjoy the view
It feels good to have nothing better to do

To all my friends, I hope that every word I wrote
Finds you well, you know, I loved you all along.
To all my enemies, unwelcome memories,
I hope these words connect like a swift kick to the head.

To all my friends, I hope that every word I wrote
Finds you well, you know, I loved you all along.
To all my enemies, unwelcome memories,
To all my friends, you know, I loved you all along,
I loved you all along, I loved you all along,
I loved you all along, I loved you all along.
