[Music + lyrics: M. Weikath]

Once they killed his monster when it went into a trap now he's making better ones on a higher step

[Bridge:]

On a warm summer day the doctor went away to a place where he could make it real his assistant's hips were nice so he cloned her once or twice now his hips are aching what a deal

[Chorus:]

Dr. Stein grows funny creatures lets them run into the night they become great rock musicians great politicians
a great possession
a great oppression

Sometimes when he's feeling bored he's calling it a day he's got his computers and they do it their own way

[Bridge:]

They mix some DNA, some skina and a certain spray you can watch it on a laser screen and the fellow's blue and grey or sometimes pink and green just check it out on Halloween

[Chorus:]

Dr. Stein grows funny creatures. . .

[Solo: Mike/Kai/Mike/Kai]

[Bridge:]

One night he cloned himself put his brother on a shelf but when he fell asleep that night it crept up from behind and thought "well never mind" took a syringe and blew out his life
