In the night, I'm calling you
Be my guide, help me through
In the night, I call your name
You're the light in times of shame
The songs I sing, all my love
I bring for you

I always try to make things better
Everything that has gone wrong
Mighty plans in the right direction
But very little has been done

Everyday when I try to get forward
I find myself another mile back,
Help me fighting, help me breathing
Why am I falling down instead?

Every useful minute seems to be the thought of you
Every hour seems like wasted, filled with things that I might do
Without love in my reactions
Seems the saddest thing but it's true

In the night, I'm calling you
Be my guide, help me through
In the night I call your name
You're the light in times of shame
The songs I sing, all my love
I bring for you

Free from ourselves
And free from this world we may find
The freedom we search
'Cause all that we need is inside

The hours we waste
We may not get back for a while
And when it gets dark
No chance will be there for a try

When I wake up early in the morning
I catch a book and jump inside

I fill my head with a million wonders
And try to fill the night with light

The moment when I get things clearer
I see another mountain to climb
And always when I think, I'm nearer
I realize there is no time

In the night, I'm calling you
Be my guide, help me through
In the night, I call your name
You're the light in times of shame
Sometimes I cried after all
I lied to you
