Wake up now this time
You've been hiding underneath the covers of your bed again
It's alright
I thought that I could make this into anything I wanted
Suppose that I've forgotten how to dream?
We could steal a little time away
And think of something more to say
To make it seem like it's alright
I thought that I might feel something different this time
Instead I don't feel anything at all

Are you awake or am I talking to myself?
Because I was hoping you weren't listening
You're such a fake and I don't know if I can tell
I wish that I could fall asleep again

Wake up now this time
You're not fooling anyone
Pretending that you're still asleep
But I don't mind
You said if I woke up then I might never be able To get myself to fall asleep again

Are you awake or am I talking to myself?
Because I was hoping you weren't listening
You're such a fake and I don't know if I can tell
I wish that I could fall asleep again
