Now, baby, who's to blame?
You keep my picture in a frame
Without room to move

Now show me the man
That could fit into your plan
Of a faultless love

Now we have to sail and we have to live
(Have to live)
And we have to fail and we have to forgive
(Ooh, ooh, ooh)

This is who I am
A part of me that you don't understand
And I love you still
I'm only riding through the hills

But it's a minor thing
You're still the one that makes me sing
Until the end of time

And you caught my love in a summer breeze
(You caught my love in a summer breeze)
But sometimes, there's a bird that I have to release
(To release, to release, to release, to release)

This is who I am
A part of me that you don't understand
And I love you still
I'm only riding through the hills
(Only)

Can't you see
You only want the best of me?
Now you've got the ball
Don't you let it fall

This is who I am
A part of me that you don't understand
And I love you still
I'm only riding through the hills

This is how I feel
(A little part of me that you don't understand)
This is who I am
(A little part of me that you don't understand)
A little part of me that you don't understand)

This is who I am
(A little part of me that you don't understand)
This is who I am
(A little part of me that you don't understand)

This is who I am
(A little part of me that you don't understand)
