

Trigger Point "A Silent Protest"

I go to speak these words to you, even though I know it's something - that I shouldn't do - But I can keep These words at bay, there are too many feelings inside
- of me - I would give it all just for your kiss, and every last fucking breath - it comes with - You're touch hurts me but I don't care, because it hurts even more - when your not there - I start to speak but I STOP - Like a silent protest in my Heart - Words don't mean a thing, but now they do - Give me one more day with you - I cannot see what I'm nailed to, it's amazing what love can do To you - Escape from what you show to me, before I overdose on my own reality - I never sleep when I'm alone, I have trouble getting comfortable In my - home - I toss and turn all through the night, I can't sleep I can't sleep - with you in my mind - I start to speak but I STOP - Like a silent Protest in my heart - Words don't mean a thing, now they do - Give me one more day with you - Silent protest at this point our words are useless - Silent protest at this point our words are useless - I dint want any of this, But like a cross I am hung on your lips
- You linger deep inside my room, Like the smell of a fresh opened tomb - I would do the same if I were you, and run away from the love you're - drawn to - The life I chose does not Permit, But I will miss I will miss I will - miss you - I start to peak but I STOP - Like a silent protest in my heart - Words don't mean a thing, now they Do - Give me one more day
