What we have here is a deck of cards
With the king of ace and the queen clutching her hearts
Do you expect this to be a fair game?

What we will see is a never ending fight
With a total loss of everyone in sight
Do you expect that someone will win?

It ends today

Blindfolded stars gaze at their compulsive cards
Trust no one for chance
Driven to take it all

Ace high - bent out of shape
Ace low - you cannot escape
There is nothing here that I need to save
Fold hearts - the trenches are red
Last deal - remember what's said
Two of hearts in the dead man's hand
The joker deals again

Love/hate relation that is hard to understand
Nothing ventured, nothing gained in the gambler's land
Is it a crime to bend 'round the rules?

All pieces in the puzzle of the grand design
Strategic interception but control remains denied
Is it a crime when you don't know the rules?

It ends today
Driven to take it all

Ace high - bent out of shape
Ace low - always escape
There is nothing here that I need to save
Fold hearts - the trenches are red
Last deal - remember what's said
Two of hearts in the dead man's hand
The joker deals again

Ace high - bent out of shape
Ace low - you cannot escape
There is nothing here that I need to save
Fold hearts - the trenches are red
Last deal - remember what's said
Two of hearts in the dead man's hand
The joker deals again
