Let's take a walk, my love,
Down by the river, my baby,
Down where we used to go until the day when we found
that body.

Please don't forget, my love,
It was our favourite spot once,
Please don't let one blotted corpse ruin all our memories.

I know you slipped down a muddy embankment,
And landed on a rotting body,
Please don't let that spoil that place for you,
Cause don't forget we kissed there too.

Come on, baby, get over it,
Our love so much better than that dead body.
I'd hate to think our relationship hung by a thread of whether we saw a body or not.
Hey, I kept a momento,
It's the stick we poked it with.
Oh come on baby!

All the memories were fantastic,
Except for one guy wrapped in plastic,
Down where we used to go until the day when we found that body.
