It's a good time to get together when the weather's nice

When the time is right, it's your time

Do with it what you like

Take a flight, take a walk

Ride a train of thought

Ride it to the end of the earth or the block

Ride it for a while with no destination in mind

To see what you find

When there's no place that you've got to be

No place better than what see, please

Don't wake me up if I'm dreaming

I've got to ride this one into the morning sun

And see what comes

Cause I've been dreaming that anything can happen

In less than a second, so every second's precious

I'm dreaming that there ain't no gravity

No sink or swim but the earth keeps spinning

I'm dreaming of wiping out alarm clock buttons like a disease

And letting the weary sleep

Letting the tired sleep

It's a good thing when your dreams spins

There from just dreaming to this is where my day begins

I've got a friend who saw it and caught it

And didn't let his ego interrupt the fragile moment

Or make or break the bridge

Replace the cornerstone

The very rock that would travel so far from home

No ball or chain just an ever so slight grade

Enough to keep a train rolling back to where it came from

No rocks or gates or trail of bread crumbs

Just enough direction to follow the sun

Cause I've been dreaming

That anything can happen in less than a second

So every second's precious

I'm dreaming that there ain't no gravity

No sink or swim but the earth keeps spinning
I'm dreaming of wiping out alarm clock buttons like a
disease
And letting the weary sleep
Letting the tired sleep

Where else do we got to go?
I mean if we can't dream
Then how are we supposed to know?
I'm mean if we can't breathe
Then how are we supposed to grow?
Because in this life we spend so much time
Processing information that is in our minds
Directly connected to the heart
That's where this engine starts
And then it drives it from the dark
One thing that nobody could take
Are these thoughts and these dreams
That we've got when we're not awake
You can take my life or my home
But you could never take my mind or my soul

Cause I'm dreaming that anything can happen
In less than a second
So every second's precious
I'm dreaming that there ain't no gravity
No sink or swim but the earth keeps spinning
I'm dreaming of wiping out alarm clock buttons
Like a disease and letting the weary sleep
Letting the tired sleep
