I pushed you back, but you held on,
I know you see right through me,
When I let go, you press right on, expelling mercy.

I also see your reasons for your expectations,
But I can hardly see you now,
Through all these complications.

My eyes are open, to your intentions,
My eyes are open you say.

This mask of fear I wear is crushed,
No harm comes to me,
You pick me up, and dust me off, and redirect me.

My eyes are open, to your intentions,
My eyes are open you say.

Frustration falls on higher peaks,
You kiss the winded,
Imagination up upon, the winds enchantment.
