Tucked away in what I've gained
Is knowing that it's not enough, to fill me up
I set my mind on things above
Believing what I have in You is more than all I need
Renew my mind to see somehow
That yesterday is gone

For my Heart was made
Made for another world
Another place
My Heart was made
Made for the only love
That took my place
So I could be where You are

There's a hunger deep inside
That can only be filled
When I praise Your name
As I look inside I feel Your love
So I reach for more of You

For my Heart was made
Made for another world
Another place
My Heart was made
Made for the only love
That took my place
So I could be where You are

Son of God became man
Taking my place to die
And now stands alive
He conquered death in the grave
To show the world what it means to be alive

For My heart was made
Made for another world...

For My heart was made
Made for another world
Another place
My heart was made

Made for the only love that took my place
So I could be where You are
