music: Bucci/Gigliani/Scazzocchio, lyrics: Bucci

[Zeus:] "Lord of shades, I swear you...
Persephone will be your bride
By your side she will become Queen of Hades"

Since that damned day, the grim King of the Reign of darkness was waiting for the fate to be fulfilled Knowing not the deal the girl was gathering flowers in the Nisa's plain when the infernal chariot came

Suddenly the sun was covered by gloomy clouds and an icy wind started to blow Under her feet a deep chasm was opened wide and with a cold embrace she was stolen from the light

[Hades:] "The Father of gods has decreed your doom Since so long time
An endless reign you will rule by my side Of death you'll be the queen!"

The Demethra's rage was so terrible that all the earth was tormented by a long famine A sad winterseason crawled in every land bringing to all the men sufferings and pain But condemned by a pomegranate Persephone's doom was sealed
