The stars will cry their blackest tears tonight and this is the moment that i live for I can smell the ocean air.

And here i am pouring my heart onto these rooftops just a ghost to the world that's exactly, exactly what i need.

From up here the city lights burn like a thousand miles of fire and I'm here to sing this anthem
of our dying day.

For a second i wished the tide would swallow every inch of this city as you gasp for air tonight.

I'd scream this song right in your face if you were here I swear I wont miss a beat 'Cause I never, never have before.

like a thousand miles of fire
and I'm here to sing this anthem
of our dying day

of our dying day.
of our dying day.
of our dying...

like a thousand miles of fire
and I'm here to sing this anthem
of our dying day

and I'm here to sing this anthem
of our dying day
from up here the city lights burn
like a thousand miles of fire
and I'm here to sing this anthem
of our dying day
our dying day.
of our dying...
