

Story of the Year "Dive Right In"

Visit "Dive Right In" on MotoLyrics.com

So here I go, I'll dive right in
Break through the waves, straight to the ocean floor

And although my hands are shaking, I lie perfectly still
'Cause I'm determined to let myself sink down

And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again

I could wave my arms and swim away
But never reach the shore

But for now I will lay, face first in the sand
With the wreckage from ships that lost their way

And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again

And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again

And although my hands are shaking, I lie perfectly still
'Cause I'm determined to let myself sink down

And I know I'm buried too far down
To feel the warmth from the sun again

And I know that I'm buried now, I'm buried too far down
To ever feel, to ever feel

The sun again, the sun again, the sun again
The warmth from the sun again

Visit Story of the Year page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.