

Story of the Year "So Far So Good"

never for one single second thought that I would find myself at the beginning but at the end am I wasting time pictures fading while I sing this song a million times a million times

all that I promised to myself another word misplaced tonight all that I'm holding in why am I holding in

so far so good
a picture's worth a thousand words
so far so good

forever thriving on a feeling no tomorrow without a day of growing older I can defend the bridge I burn this time at constant odds with the hope that keeps me alive keeps me alive

another word misplaced tonight
