"The Heart Of Polka Still Beats"

This heart is bleeding desperation
And these dreams, They're still worth fighting for Cause in my eyes, this is the only thing that i fucking have
And I will never let this go

This love, is something that will never die
And this blood, still running through our veins Bite your words, you know they never came from the fucking heart
And I will be there to watch you fall apart

We're the blood of the main frame
And we're the heart of the system
Still you throw it all away
And everything, starts with you

And now this time
The words will be straight from the heart
You can't fake, the life that was never there
And this is reason, enough to stand up
And make this life mean more to you

We're the blood of the main frame
And we're the heart of the system
Still you throw it all away
Everything, starts with you

With you

Every action
Sparks reaction
And every movement
Starts with you

Every action
Sparks reaction
And every movement
It starts now

You

It starts with you
With you

We're the blood of the main frame
And we're the heart of the system
Still you throw it all away
Everything, starts with you

We're the blood
We're the blood
Everything
It all starts right now
With you

It starts with you
It starts with you
