Victim is your name can you hear them screaming?
Stuck at you like leeches it sucks your most precious wishes
To devour you at last ready to kill for what you've got Faithful servants of your death just waiting to seize your livid face

You feel like the whole world has abandoned you
With everything you wanted to show
You think that there's always inside your heart
Something bad that needs to grow

To devour you at last ready to kill for what you've got Honesty was your excuse like something made to abuse
You stand sounding the revolt you aim targets with your big gun
You shoot but your eyes have been burst now you're blind
The end is now closer than what you think

You feel like the whole world has abandoned you
With everything you wanted to show
You think that there's always inside your heart
Something bad that needs to grow

And your trying to remove the poison anchored inside your veins

You feel like the whole world has abandoned you
With everything you wanted to show
You think that there's always inside your heart
Something bad that needs to grow
