Hey, down in splendour

Join the slide

Standing on the seashore

And the tide

Comes rolling through your eyes

You've got no place to go

Comes rolling through your mind

You've got no one to know

Hey, down in splendour

Take a bow

Blinded in the white light

And the crowd

Die slowly in your arms

You're left to lie alone

And save your face of changing colour

And your smile of fading colour

'Cause you'll never know another

Who will give you ever after

And you shouldn't have to say goodbye

And wonder if this way is how

It's gonna be

And you shouldn't have to say goodbye
And wonder if this way is how
It's gonna be
And save your face of changing colour
And your smile of fading colour
'Cause you'll never know another
Who will give you ever after
And you shouldn't have to say goodbye
And wonder if this way is how
It's gonna be
And you shouldn't have to say goodbye
And wonder if this way is how
It's gonna be
And you shouldn't have to say goodbye
And wonder if this way is how
It's gonna be.
