There was a time when you belonged to another
Counting the moments down till you freed yourself
I stood here waiting in my own selfish candlelight
Praying that God would send you down from Heaven

And then I saw your face, I saw a brand new day
I saw your eyes aglow, it sparked my heart to fire

Do you remember the first time I put your hand into mine?
Do you remember the first time I ever kissed your lips?
Do you remember the time that we danced in the rain?
We couldn't sleep for days
Come on and take my hand,
Let me lead you home to our new life

Then I saw your smile and it drove me crazy
The way I feel when you're around, I can't describe it baby

You got me on my knees and I'm crying out for love
Love's labor found Love's labor found me and you rescued me from the darkness
