When I'm not ready, I disappear
Sunlight falls down on empty air
No raindrops fell, to drown your sparks
Blue eyes have me run through the heart
This morning sky, and those gulls in flight
Your breath and mine synchronized
Hot sun on skin, oh the world so far
Blue eyes that show me something more
True eyes that show me something more
Blue eyes there, in my sleep
They can soar so damn deep
Calm me down tenderly
Things like this don't happen to me
I've been around, my mind's made up
I chose to seek the loner's cup
So what are you doing in my dreams
Blue eyed lover, blue eyed friend
I hope this wonder never ends
Some things I've learned, at least I thought
But on this earth who knows what?
Red fire at night, oh on a shadowed floor
Your touch was light your eyes said more, more, more
And I said more, more, more
We both said more, more, more
Your eyes said more, more, more
I said more, more, more
We all need more, more, more
More real love and more real dreams
I'll teach you and you teach me
More about people and more about friend
More about living, whatever it is
