Failure in short can be defined by an Unwillingness to learn from a past mistake
With every decision there is a condition
And in every choice a price to pay as We carry on in this day and age the Hardships that befall us for our mind set
Often come from misunderstanding turned Judgment and so we are separated and labeled
Outcasts intolerant short-sighted narrow-minded
Unfairly held to an unfair vice but we Cannot compromise what we believe even

Though it brings condemnation it will come
Again persecution this division amongst Men only causes dissent the distance between Us is merely difference if we do not have Regard for a mutual respect who will benefit
This separates man this age of anger is Choking itself these hands have killed this Age of anger is choking itself they shall Surely do it again this age of anger is Shedding its own these hands must learn
