We had music for dinner
Heady and sweet
To wash the bitterness of words from our lips
My love for you is irreversible
And strong like song

In your slow voice, I heard suggestion
In your reaches I felt perfection
I will linger on
Inside your wordless poetry of melody

Daddy, I'm a bad girl
Give it to me straight
Don't tell me life is honey
When you and I know it ain't

I couldn't be your angel
I had to steal a kiss
And if you could be here now
I wouldn't be desireless

If this night could find tomorrow
And I gave words to my sorrow
I'd find solace in the prospect of belief
But I couldn't spare the roses
When I drowned the weeds
And the nature of your virtue is my grief

Your game was so enticing
That I could not resist
Your promise so inviting
Playing out upon your lips

I couldn't be your angel
I had to steal a kiss
And if you could be here now
I wouldn't be desireless

If each twilight's yours alone
And your lover feels like home
You will know the blessing you have been to me

Your game was so exiting
I had to take the risk
You radiate so blinding
My pulse froze in my wrists

I couldn't be your angel
I had to steal a kiss
And if you could be here now
I wouldn't be desireless

I couldn't be your angel
And if you could be here now
I wouldn't be desireless

I couldn't be your angel, ohhh
And if you could be here now

Da da da, da da, da da da
Oh, I wouldn't be desireless...
