All my life I have attacked Doesn't anybody out there wanna fight me back?
Doesn't anybody out there
wanna take revenge?
I'm sick and tired of just being forgiven

The ground begin to shake
A mountain side, an earthquake

Chorus:

All the faults in California run directly through my head
All the faults in California
are converging in this bed
All the faults in California will not rest until I'm dead

I've got a birth defect my heart's inverted
It took all my karma and reversed it no matter what I do people spill compassion
I sin and sin
and nothing happens

The ground begin to shake
A mountain side, an earthquake

Chorus

I had a dream of you in a redwood tree
You held one white rose
out for me
You held one white rose

The ground begins to shake

A mountain side, an earthquake

All the faults in California
