Now believe me, you will heal forever's not this hurting that you feel you cannot see inside yourself what others do but there's a stronger source of hope inside of you

And we all wish that we could take away the human reasons for your ache you may not see through all this dark how people care but we're all pleading for your happiness in prayer

So know you're loved, and all this while we are poorer from the absence of your smile our deepest wish would guarantee to see your heart as well as it may be

And when that heart comes out of hiding and the suffering starts to ease may your joy become contagious so that others too may see

That the pain is not eternal, but the human spirit is and no love's more real than one that heals with the hope that it can give
