

Stuart McNair

"Window"

Visit "Window" on MotoLyrics.com

You been sleeping with your tears and a pillow soaking wet i been leaving you for years but i haven't met you yet chorus:

could you discover me before i go too far before i close the window to my heart everyone is so afraid of letting down their guard everyone makes a great escape before it gets too hard but you'll discover me before i go too far
before i close the window to my heart

bridge:

when the wind blows and the leaves begin to fall you can close your eyes and pretend not to notice at all but every now and again you'll be waiting on a call that very well may not ever come there's no shelter from a cold hard wind when the sun disappears in the west but we'd never be cold again if i could hold you to my chest

chorus

bridge

now way back off the highway in the woods down past the farm i'll be wrapped up in the darkness that should have been your arms if you'd discovered me before i went too far before i closed the window to my heart but i just closed the window to my heart

Visit Stuart McNair page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.