Never gets quite dark this time of year
Still the nights seem so lightless when you're not here
Lost all my feelings and lost my last fear
Lost all my heart and soul to you, dear
Fend your god this ghost of yours
Back into the missed life so many times before
Will I ever find you, will you ever be
More than a ghost, just a haunting memory

You brought me the moon and you gave me the sun
You gave me a piece of your heart
I looked at the sky and the shooting stars
We're light years apart, we're light years apart

You brought me the moon and you shoot me the light
You had me possessed from the start
I stare at the night sky and wonder why
We're light years apart, we're light years apart

Somewhere there where the dim light unclear
My mind did disease me, you whisper right here
This hurt is forever, this pain will never leave
My desire to hold you will last eternally

You brought me the moon and you gave me the sun
You gave me a piece of your heart
I looked at the sky and the shooting stars
We're light years apart, we're light years apart

You brought me the moon and you shoot me the light
You had me possessed from the start
I stare at the night sky and wonder why
We're light years apart, we're light years apart (x3)
