Your voice was so soft, when you called my phone on
the ride home.
The minutes felt like hours on that drive.
I wanted to stay forever in your eyes.
I catch the light with ease, every breath is accounted for.
Understanding is what we waited for. Waiting.
You always play our song on my stereo, even though your at home.
Confessions of your heart are just like mine.
You read what's inside, What's inside of me.
Headlights on holidays, Shine through the windows of
your place
And decorate the walls with all the colors that I sing.
Headlights on holidays, Shine through the windows of
your place
And decorate the walls with all the colors that I sing.
You catch the light with ease, every break is accounted for.
Understanding is what we waited for.
We catch the light with ease.
