"Skyline At Hope's Fall"

Draw the line through hope and despair.
Like a knife your words cut me inside.
I'm dull like a razorblade, again.
Puncture my skin through my chest.
My heart bleeds loud, can't you hear?
I gave you everything and i would do anything to make things right.
But I lost all hope, it's been so long since i heard your voice.
The sky cried today and so did I.
As i looked across the sky and paint the air your favorite colors.
Everyone, Everywhere, I saw you for the first time.
