I know you double-faced people who be talkin on this I know who you are n where you live n I got you all in a list

Checkin pages n pages of liars n cheats n fakers N make em take it then place em in backstabbin incarceration

Its all because of you, n nobody likes you Theres nothin you can do, dont talk alot like you used to

Nothin is sacred to take and make entertaining (So take your seats coz the show is just beginning)

Cant get away with that You got snapped out Droppin shit that you should never tell about someone else
Thisll change the way we think of you forever
Puttin people down to make you feel better

I heard you were tellin people that it was all true
Just another fool breakin another golden rule Everybody wants to listen to the never ending spreading
Of the rumour pollution that isnt even worth remembering
You did it to me n i will never forget this Some people learn their lessons but you want to just spread it People will find out you were stabbin their backs with your mouth
Its too late now...

Cant get away with that
You got snapped out Droppin shit that you should never tell about someone
else
Thisll change the way we think of you forever
Puttin people down to make you feel better

Cant get away with that
You got snapped out

Droppin shit that you should never tell about someone
else
Thisll change the way we think of you forever

Its almost like a secret organisation Members and a president for every nation Never ending complications started by a conversation (Good morning backstabbers incorporated)

No need to investigate it Or hire secret agents Just look for the person whos got the most to say about this Askin all the questions in every direction Movin through our lives like an infection

Cant get away with that
You got snapped out Droppin shit that you should never tell about someone
else
Thisll change the way we think of you forever
Puttin people down to make you feel better

Cant get away with that
You got snapped out Droppin shit that you should never tell about someone
else
Thisll change the way we think of you forever

Your words have come around...
Your words have come around...
Your words have come around...
Its all about you now...
