Hold on, he's coming
Through the wheels of the star machine
Hold on, he's coming
Through the tears of your shit stained dream

In an anthem for the world
Let him waltz you down the river
Let him feel like boy or girl
With his sci-fi lullaby
Let the light of the bomb shine from him tomorrow
Yes this world needs a father for the sorrow
So let's have one, for the lovers
And one more, for the friends
'cos drink to you is all i can do
As life slips down, down the drain

Hold on, he's coming
With the screen kissed spine of the past
Hold on, he's coming
With the style of the wormwood star

Sing an anthem for the world
Sing a farewell for the river
If you feel like boy or girl
Sing a sci-fi lullaby
Let the light of the bomb shine from him tomorrow
Yes this world needs a father for the sorrow
So let's have one more, for the lovers
And one more, for the friends
For drink to you is all i can do
As life slips down, down the drain
