OOH there's something bout the sky light blue tonight
Something that make me know everything's gone be all right

There's something in the way that the stars align There's not a single moment Imma pass by

The hours now
The base is loud
The disco lights
Shining through the crowd
Where holding time in our hand and stops
When we say
We say
And we ain't stopping till the morning light

And I hope that the sun don't let it come

Ain't stopping for no one
The night is young
Don't let them turn on the lights
Let us decide when they played out that song
The night is young

When we break the Dawn
We break the dawn
We break the dawn
We break the dawn
We break the dawn

Ooh there something on the surface right now
Something the keeps me moving digging deeper down
So I just let the speakers speak to me
Vibrations moving on the floor all around
The hours now...
