I thought it was only in fairy tales that wishes came true
But I believe I might be the exception to that odd point of view

Like sunshine, in my life, you've come to rescue me
The rain clouds have gone from my heart

I thought it was almost impossible to carry through
There once was a time where I cried myself to sleep
But now I found you

Like sunshine, in my life, you've come to rescue me
The rain clouds have gone from my heart to set me free

And I know, yeah

I need something to hold on to,

Just to get me through,

To love me too, I need you

It's true
