Spare a thought then take time to Think about it, me and you
Sometimes Right, Sometimes Wrong
It's better than it's ever been
All the things, I've never seen
Sometimes right, sometimes wrong
What's a man
Supposed to do
When he finds
Someone like you
I give my heart
You know it's true
What's a man supposed to do
Friends might say, I'm compromised
But I guess they'll never realise
Until they've found a love like you
Then they'll understand, what a man's supposed to do
Though there were times
We thought we wouldn't make it
Oh darling
Something got me, something got me through
You're the one.
