Outside my window, oh, it's raining
Ah, but somehow the cold, cold rain seems right
And inside my lonely heart is aching (yes it is honey)
And oh, how I miss you tonight.

Well, the blues don't care who's got 'em
Tears, they don't care where they fall
And you, you don't care that my heart is breaking in two
You and the blues they don't care at all.

--- Instrumental ---

The wind, it don't know where it's blowing
And the rivers, they don't care honey, where they flow And you, you don't care (this old boy's heart is still breakin' for you darling
You and the blues they don't care at all.

Well, the blues don't care who's got 'em
Tears, they don't care where they fall
And you, you don't care that my heart is breaking in two
You and the blues they don't care at all.

You and the blues don't care at all...
