Well I've had a few since I last talked to you
And I think it's time that you knew
I'm down at the bar and I can't drive my car
I'm alone but I'm drinking for two

When she said goodbye, a part of me died
And left me here tonight
All alone with my drink as I sit and think
That maybe you were right

I wanna feel the way I felt the first time
I wanna feel the way I felt when your lips first touched mine
I wanna feel my heart and know that it's still there
Go back tot he start and see if you still care
Want you to feel my heart and know that I'm still here

I'm slurring my words, all the faces are blurred
I guess I should call it a day
I'm still down at the bar and I can't find my car
I'm a mess, guess the towed it away

I tried to replace you with this beer
And so far it's working, cause I'm still here
