You're no, you're no good to me
And I see right through you
I don't, I don't need you now
And I see right through you

You always knew, I'd be fine
Without you, alone

Stop trying to change me
I've said it time and time again
Couldn't get it through your head
Stop trying to change me
I've said it time and time again
Now its finally sinking in
Should have listened to me then

Through it all, never watched you fall
And I see right through you
You know, you know you've gone and lost it all
And we see right through you

You always knew, I'd be fine
Without you, alone

Stop trying to change me
I've said it time and time again
Couldn't get it through your head
Stop trying to change me
I've said it time and time again
Now its finally sinking in
Should have listened to me then

And you're losing ground
Cause you are the one who let me down
And I'm better off without you now
Cause I am the one who let you down

Stop trying to change me
I've said it time and time again
Couldn't get it through your head

I always knew I'd be fine
Alone
Stop trying to change me
I've said it time and time again
Couldn't get it through your head
Stop trying to change me
I've said it time and time again
Now its finally sinking in
Should have listened to me then
