"Let It Die"

Visit "Let It Die" on MotoLyrics.com i've heard this before when it meant more the first time around you made your mark and tore it down abandoned this for aspirations of fame so why rekindle the flame let it die what are you trying to sell a feeble attempt to reinvent what you once had the first time around you made your mark rehash the sound

all those slogans that you wear on your sleeve have lost their validity let it die this monument that you've contrived that stale ideal does not apply anymore never be like before better off abandoned better left alone all those gears have rusted over time they've grown still still you try i heard this before let it die
