Never-Ending Project

Written by Michael Schenk and Nicholas La Torre

Music by Michael Schenk and Nicholas La Torre

Performed by Turning Pages

Each step is a memory of somewhere else
Each mile no closer to happiness
Many familiar faces melt into none

They don't understand this is a battle for one
Before the smiling face can back home
The speech will be an unfamiliar tone

There's so much left to do
There are so many days to burn
Many footsteps left undone
So many songs left unsung

Long and winding roads with no end in sight
The sun beats down and burns until the night
The same black stain, longs to be clean

The unfinished lyrics wait to be spoken
Too many words not enough page
Not enough time let on this stage

There's so much left to do
There are so many days to burn

There's so much left to do (repeating, outro)
