Oh, she's trying so hard
I said oh, she's trying so hard
Just to get your attention and never let go because She just wants to hold on Getting everyone's attention as shes making her moves

All eyes on her because she knows what to do
Even though it seems like the wrong to you
And now she pulls away with that look on her face
Dressed to impress or impress by the dress
And the way that she knows how to carry herself

(Chorus)
Look who's on the floor again
She's oh so delicate in my crazy little world
One more drink to end the night and one more night
For the drinks I know that she is trying oh so hard

Although she seems like she keeps to herself
She just really wants to compete with the rest
The sun is setting and the night starts to come
She goes to the club to try to hook up with someone
Even though she's my friend and I want to help
I can't stop myself to try like the rest
So we both go together it never gets old
And maybe I'll be the one that she will hold

(Repeat Chorus)

(Bridge)
Dressed up in fashion with expensive things on She's dancing all around like she's one of a kind Staying out all night trying to get by Saying that this is the last time
She will ever let herself get out of hand
She just wants someone who can be her true love
How will she find her one in a kind?
If she can't even remember what happened last night

(Repeat Chorus)
