Looking back at us this time
We might have played our hearts last night
And just as we begin to smile
You'll forget we met this way
And live on with no memory

No, please say this isn't so
The last time I'll move my feet to your heartbeat
And wind up laying on the floor
I'll buy you one last drink
Before the bar runs dry, and I get shy
And this song gets stuck on repeat

Looking back at us this time
We might have played our hearts last night
And just as we begin to smile
You'll forget we met this way
And live on with no memory

When we play our lives like this
No conversation lasts, just walk right past
And forget I even exist
My luck might change one day
And maybe you'll hear me, please
I'll play that scene where you walk right up to me

Looking back at us this time
We might have played our hearts last night
And just as we begin to smile
You'll forget we met this way
And live on with no memory (x2)
