"Times Of Destiny"

Walking away, falling down
It all seems as bright as day, dark as night
The hero comes along he moves in fear
When you're bound to understand fall beneath me

I could not see the times of destiny
I could not hear I am the chosen one

My heart of stone my fallen angel right beside me Could ease the pain and steal the light that shines on you now
You have control, your inner peace to heal from dying
That's what I need to fill my soul with you and me

It all comes back to you it haunts my every move
The hero needs a sign to wake you up When you're bound to understand we are closer than before
Stealing the madness

I could not see the times of destiny
I could not hear I am the fallen one
