When I found you I was swept away by tidal waves of passion

Like a sailor drinking rum beyond the limits of his ration.

I'm all at sea and I'm lost like a vessel with no course

I can't see through the night and the winds are gale force.

The ship sails on and you are sleeping down below

Now you're in the hold

I'll never let you go -

I'll never let you go.

Love in the dark in the middle of the ocean

Love in the dark in the storm of our emotion.

I don't need to know the time of day or night
of our direction

Only one thing justifies itself and that is our affection.

We don't look out for the signs that the current ebbs and flows

And we live in a nest made for love and not for crows.

The ship sails on and you are sleeping down below

The ship sails on and you are sleeping down below

...

Love in the dark in the middle of the ocean

love in the dark.
